

JOB SEARCH METHODS

Job seekers who quickly find good jobs use a variety of job search methods - all at the same time. If you're not finding good jobs, then it may be time to try another job search method. Some methods are more successful than others, so don't spend all your time using one job search method if it's not working for you.

Match the job search method with its success rate. Draw an arrow to correct answer.

Job Search Method
Using the Internet to look for job-postings by employers
Answering local newspaper ads
Using private employment agencies or search firms
Using State/federal employment service office
Approaching Employers with no advertised vacancies
Posting resumes on job boards such as Careerbuilder.com or mailing unsolicited resumes to employers
Networking

Success Rate <sup>1</sup>
7%
10%
14%
5 - 20%
5 - 28%
33%
Up to 69%

Total correct: _____

<sup>1</sup> The Job Hunter's Survival Guide, Bolles, 2011